

ELIZABETH LANGREITER

Elizabeth Langreiter's unique mixed media aerial paintings are a delightful escape from reality into a playful and joyful world. Her art often evokes the viewer to experience happy flashbacks to a favorite time or place through a sophisticated combination of pattern, color, and interesting textures. Langreiter's paintings are now capturing the hearts of collectors all over the world.

Driven by a passion to create and to spread a bit more joy in the world,

Langreiter calls on her inner child to recreate happy memories of long carefree days growing up in beautiful sunny Australia swimming, sunbathing, and enjoying the outdoors with family and friends. Her most popular paintings are created with little 3D people who are hand sculpted on the canvas with many layers of fine, intrinsic detail.

Whilst Langreiter comes from an artistic family and she was always encouraged to paint, she did not feel any desire to create until 2008 when a freak head injury suddenly ignited her previously undiscovered talent and led to an incredible passion and desire to paint. Langreiter was fearless in her approach to creating and quickly developed the confidence to continually experiment. It was this love of experimentation that has led to her utterly unique style of art.

In 2019, Langreiter exhibited outside of Australia for the first time at the Asia Contemporary Art Show HK in March and the Affordable Art Fair HK in May, which caused great interest and excitement in Hong Kong. Following her success at these shows, Langreiter was offered a solo exhibition "Summer is Here" at Jinsan Gallery in Seoul in August 2019 as her first exhibition in Korea and now has an exclusive Korean agent representing her in South Korea. After a highly successful year, Langreiter is now represented by the leading contemporary art gallery, Ode to Art at the Raffles City Complex in Singapore.

Langreiter's paintings are now in collections in the USA, Austria, Canada, China, Croatia, UK, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Israel, Singapore, Slovakia, Thailand, New Zealand, and Australia.
